Barometrix is a pioneer in the field of Enterprise Decision Management and Collaboration Software. The company believes the complexity organizations face is on the rise and many professionals lack the processes and tools necessary to evaluate a diverse set of factors, quickly and cost-effectively. Barometrix software gives executives a clear and consistent means of evaluating multiple scenarios, communicating, managing decisions, and reviewing outcomes to improve decision-making via feedback mechanisms. Barometrix software is unique in that it unlocks the power of individuals' knowledge, fosters collaboration, scales across the enterprise and requires no IT Programming. The result is a highly cost-effective means of driving the performance of initiatives, products, services and virtually any organizational assets.

Barometrix is a privately held corporation founded in 1998.
